

THE BIG SMALL STORIES

CELEBRATING 35 YEARS
OF INTEGRATED EDUCATION

The Big Small Stories is a project aimed at capturing, recording and archiving the memories and experiences of the people behind the foundation and development of integrated schools. Through oral history interviews and the collection of images and other heritage material from integrated schools, teachers, pupils, parents, principals, governors and the whole school community will embark on an exciting journey to explore and uncover the history of integrated education.

THE BIG SMALL STORIES PROJECT WILL DEVELOP:

An exhibition to show and promote the history of 65 integrated schools across Northern Ireland.

An interactive and educational app of the heritage of integrated education for smart phones and tablets for pupils, teachers and the school community.

A publication outlining integrated education heritage and legacy to peace and reconciliation in Northern Ireland.

Share with us your Big Small Stories about your experience of integrated education if you have been a parent, principal, governor, pupil, or if you have been involved in the development of integrated education. Help us to create a heritage archive of images, photos, audio and videos that illustrate the history of integrated education.
